Dear Mr McKnight

LAW REFORM COMMISSION CRIMES (SENTENCING PROCEDURE) ACT 1999

Juvenile Justice supports minimising the adverse consequences of incarceration through exploring more community based options within the Crimes (Sentencing Procedure) Act 1999.

Juvenile Justice supports sentencing whereby a custodial sentence can be combined with a community-based sentence. A period of supervision following a custodial sentence enhances the prospect of successful reintegration into the community for young offenders.
