Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to make a submission on this consultation. Please publish this submission under my full name.

Here are the main issues from my perspective:

1. Intersectionality is a problem because it can lead to protected attribute shopping or stacking, and the inclusion of added weight or penalties for multiple protected attributes is inappropriate. The test should be whether the person has experienced discrimination, not how they have been discriminated against.
2. A subjective approach towards vilification is not appropriate because it creates an unpredictable and inconsistent threshold, making it unjust. The focus on subjective emotions, such as offense or humiliation, can vary greatly among individuals, leading to potential misuse and injustice in the legal system.
3. Replacing sex with gender is problematic because it includes gender identity, which risks more disputes and potential misuse. It may also trivialize genuine sex-based discrimination cases, undermining legal credibility.

Thank you for taking the time to consider my submission.

Yours,
